OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES	I am still going to my Kyudo club. That is everyday after school and then I also go on Sundays. That has been really good and the people there are really nice. I am just about to start shooting the arrows. I also go to a Japanese class every Saturday and I have found that it has been helping me a lot. I went to the Nagasaki lantern festival with some friends from school, my host family and some of the other exchange students (all on separate occasions). School:          School has been getting easier as I have found that I have been getting a bit better at communicating in Japanese. I still only go to a few classes but I think that is good for now because instead I study Japanese in the library. Home:          My home life has been pretty good. I don't have any complaints. They are very funny and I get on really well with them. We are going to Kagoshima next week and I am looking forward to that. We often watch movies together. I get home late every day because of club but when I am home I read books, manga, watch movies and talk to my Host family

Language study	I have found that my weekly language classes have been going well. I have found that I am learning a lot from them. I also study everyday at school by myself in the library and I usually study Kanji and vocabulary.
