OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES	Kyudo club is still going on everyday. I have started to get a lot better at it and I am at the point where I can almost do it well. I went on a trip with my host family to Kagoshima and that was a lot of fun. I will also be going with my Host Grandfather on a trip to Kyoto on the 3rd to the 6th so that will be a lot of fun. I have also still been borrowing a lot of books from the local library (both novels and Japanese textbooks.) School: I am on school holidays at the moment so there is no school but I am still going everyday because of my Kyudo club. There was also a bit of complication about what year I was going to be in for next year but that has been sorted out and I will be continuing with my year group which is good. Home: My home life has been pretty good and once again I don't have any complaints. I sometimes go to the movies with my host dad. We have gone kite flying and that was surprisingly fun.

Language study	I am still going to the Japanese classes every week on Saturday and I have defiantly found that it has taught me a lot. Also starting later this month I will be getting tutored once a week. That is only a Wednesday and it is to help me with my Japanese. I have also found that because it is the holidays I have been studying less so I need to try and get back into that.
